Two main topics for the seminar:

Professional skills:
• Discussion and identification of required skills and competencies for entrepreneurship based on music and stage performance.
• Methods for developing products and services from the music sector.
• Concert production and dramaturgical analysis as tools for creative, cultural entrepreneurship.
• Models for cooperation between the arts, the authorities and business.
• Examples of professional best practices in musical entrepreneurship.

Possible transfer to entrepreneurship education for music and performing arts:
• The importance of entrepreneurship in music curricula.
• Curriculum for teaching modules.
• Discuss and identify required skills and competencies for educators.
• Explore appropriate teaching and assessment strategies.
• Provide examples of existing teaching practices.
• Initiate practice exercise
• Sharing.
The seminar aims to identify and discuss connections between these themes.

Biographies

Dr. Gro Trondalen, PhD, SET, MA-MT, Fellow of AMI, is a Professor in Music Therapy and a Senior Researcher at the Centre for Research in Music and Health (CREMAH) at the Norwegian Academy of Music in Oslo, Norway. Dr. Trondalen is a former Head of CREMAH, the MA program in music therapy, and the PhD program in music at the Norwegian Academy of Music. She is an experienced music therapy clinician and supervisor in child welfare and adult mental health and maintains a private practice in The Bonny Method of Guided Imagery and Music (GIM). Dr. Trondalen has a PhD in music therapy with young people suffering from Anorexia Nervosa. Her research focus has been on practical work linked to philosophical and theoretical perspectives within the discipline of Music and Health. She has published seven anthologies/books and several Norwegian, Swedish, and English articles, of which some have been translated into German and Japanese.

Dr. Trondalen is a distinguished international research leader who has established an international reputation with her broad and scholarly expertise related to innovative leadership e.g., developing theory, particularly in terms of music and relationships. Based on her reputation of bringing a high level of values (ethics, philosophy, theory) to the research stage, she has a standing as a leader with the highest level of theoretical and philosophical expertise.

Dr. Trondalen' s broad competencies demonstrate by extensive publications in high-impact journals, foreign translations of publications, strong citation data, editorial board appointments, and invitations to participate in international research meetings that contribute to setting the future agenda within the discipline of Music and Health. The impact of Dr. Trondalen' s work demonstrates by invitations to speak at prestigious international conferences

Additionally, Dr. Trondalen has won several awards, such as the European Music Therapy Award (2013) for outstanding contribution to European Music Therapy (w/Prof. Stige), and

The Tony Wigram Fellowship Travelling Fellowship (2021). She is also appointed Membro Onorario at the InArteSalus, Schuelo de musictherapia (2019), Schio, Italy.

Dr. Trondalen has initiated- and been the Director of Centre for Research in Music and Health (7 years) at the Norwegian Academy of Music. Her expertise as a researcher, leader and manager are evident in her international, national, and local activities.

Andreas Sønning is a professor at the Norwegian Academy of music (1987-) and a visiting professor at several universities in Norway and across Europe. Since 2010 he has been part of the building and running of several EU-funded networks for renewing higher music education and implementing innovation and entrepreneurial projects on a transversal basis. Sønning has also toured as a flute soloist and chamber musician and worked as an artistic director throughout the last 30 years in a. o. Scandinavia, Russia, Ukraine, Japan, France, Germany, Hungary, Montenegro, Slovakia, and the USA – often premiering new works for the instrument.

Sønning' s s approach to teaching and learning supports the students in developing new ideas and production concepts through the artistic development of the program composition, including rehearsals and performance practices. Where possible, the musical productions connect to real entrepreneurial practice for the students, including establishing value chains (diversified competence teams) and value systems (including income sources such as funds and paying customers/audiences.) Sønning draws on real cases from personal and professional experience to illustrate possibilities and challenges related to artistic development, planning processes, project management and interdisciplinary teamwork. His presentations also nurture and identify key research issues for further understanding and development regarding education for entrepreneurship in music.

Sønning is the author of the academic textbook: 'Creative Concert Production and Entrepreneurship: Concert Dramaturgy and Project Development for the Performing Arts, Routledge NY, 2023.

My name is Emmett Coffey and I am a lecturer in the Media Communications Department in MTU Cork. I am one of the founding members of European Creative Futures (ECF) and have been involved with the programme each year since its inception in 2009.

I am the Programme Co-ordinator for the MA in Public Relations with New Media in MTU Cork. I lecture across a number of degree programmes including the BA programmes in Creative Digital Media, Visual Communications and Marketing. I am a thesis supervisor for MA students in the Media Communications Department and I am an external examiner for the Diploma in Public Relations, run by the Public Relations Institute of Ireland (PRII), the professional body for public relations and communications professionals in Ireland.

I have a particular interest in innovation and entrepreneurship and have delivered modules on these topics in the Media Communications Department for many years. I am a member of the ACE (Accelerating Campus Entrepreneurship) network in MTU Cork which seeks to promote entrepreneurship and enterprise education across all MTU campuses. In addition to my involvement with ECF, I have delivered programmes in entrepreneurship and enterprise studies in Vietnam and South Africa as part of various MTU teaching delegations. I am particularly interested in entrepreneurship in the creative industries and the workings of creative enterprises – an area I am in which I am currently undertaking research. I am a founding member of Story? – an international student documentary film festival run annually in MTU Cork.

Before becoming a full-time lecturer, I was a secondary school teacher (teaching Business, Economics and Media Studies), a journalist and a public relations consultant. I continue to hold a strong interest in professional communications and public relations consultancy through my involvement with the Public Relations Institute of Ireland.

Roderick Udo MSc is an expert in creative entrepreneurship and financial decision making in cultural enterprises. He combines over 15 years of experience as an artist manager and festival organizer in the popular music sector with academic knowledge on entrepreneurship and finance. Roderick is a financial economist with a strong interest in entrepreneurial attitudes, decision-making and the creative and cultural sectors.. He obtained his master's degree in International Economics and Business at Utrecht University. Since 2008 he is a researcher and lecturer at HU University of Applied Sciences in Utrecht, the Netherlands. Over the past 15 years Roderick has been involved in popular music festivals in the Netherlands and the United Kingdom, either as a creative director or as a production manager. During this period, he also ran an artist management company, working with artists from many different countries. In these roles he closely observed financing dilemmas in the popular music sector, and by combining these observations with his background in financial education, Roderick developed a strong interest in financial decision-making in creative careers. This resulted in a PhD research project on financial decision making in the popular music sector in Europe, which he started in 2019.

Cristian has performed concerts in venues like: „Philharmonie Berlin", „Elbphilharmonie Hamburg", „NCPA Beijing", „Shanghai Grand Theater", „Auditorio Nacional de Música Madrid", „Konzerthaus Berlin", „Palau de la Música Catalana Barcelona", „Taipei National Concert Hall", „Teatro Real Madrid", „Palau de les Arts Reina Sofía Valencia", „Lotte Concert Hall Seoul", „Tonhalle Zürich", „KKL Luzern", „Victoria Hall Geneva", „Herkulessaal München", „Auditorium Parco della Musica/Sala Santa Cecilia Roma", „ Alte Oper Frankfurt", „Katara Opera House Doha", „Romanian Athenaeum" Bucharest, under the baton of conductors such as Zubin Mehta, Riccardo Chailly, Bernard Haitink, Christoph Eschenbach, Sir Roger Norrington, Dennis Russell Davies, Sir Colin Davis, Cristian Măcelaru, Ion Marin, Cristian Mandeal, James Gaffigan, Lü Jia, Alexandre Bloch, Gabriel Bebeșelea.

Dr. Andreea Mitan is a lecturer and a researcher at the National University of Political Studies and Public Administration (SNSPA) in Bucharest, Romania. She serves as CEO of the Center for Research in Management from SNSPA, and as CEO of the Norwegian-Romanian Chamber of Commerce.

Andreea holds a doctorate degree in Communication Sciences (2014), and a doctorate degree in Management (2022).

She began working as an independent marketing and communication specialist in 2007 and since then joined the teams of several international projects related to fostering youth entrepreneurship and the valorization of cultural heritage. In 2012 she joined SNSPA as a communication and marketing lecturer and researcher. Between 2013 and 2022 she was the program manager of four business-related master's programs offered by SNSPA. Among her recent project-based collaborations as communication expert we cite her experience with the Eastern and South-Eastern European Fanel Network, the network of female experts in international relations from the extended Black Sea region. Since 2022 she is the manager of STRATEGICA, an international academic conference on business and economics, organized by SNSPA and the National Bank of Romania, which she previously helped organize since 2014, as logistics manager.

Dr. Mitan published 2 books as single author, 3 books as co-author, and over 35 articles and conference papers. She is the author of the first Romanian academic book on the topic of music marketing `Chart-topping – 7 music marketing models` [În top – 7 modele de marketing în muzică] (2015), and she received in 2016 a best-seller award from Tritonic publishing house for the book `The essential guide to promotional techniques` [Ghid esențial de promovare], which she co-authored. Her most recent book `Y: Popular Culture and Identity` [Y: Popular culture și identitate] (2019) tackles the topic of youth identity and culture, exploring the connection between personal values and youngsters' musical preferences.

Currently affiliated to B.S.Lab – Business Systems Laboratory, and EBES – Eurasia Business and Economics Society, dr. Mitan also serves as a reviewer for journals published by Emerald, Elsevier, Inderscience, and MDPI.

Although not a professional musician, dr. Mitan studied belcanto and graduated in 2006 from the Arts School in Galati, Romania, and took speech level singing classes between 2010 and 2012. During her youth, she appeared in over 50 live shows in her native town and in Bucharest.

The Kairos Code - mental strength, momentary creativity and artistic power

Based on a PhD in performance psychology and 30 years' experience as an opera singer and stage artist, Nils H. Sødal deals in his lecture with various aspects of artistic performance. Key topics touched on in his research-based lecture are:

Keys to managing performance anxiety

- Overthinking and underachieving.
- What does mental strength mean?
- Muscular and emotional regulation.
- How to transform anxiety into energy and vitality.
- Attention training as it is practiced by athletes.

Strategies to release creativity and joyful artistic expression

- What is creativity?
- How to release subconscious creative resources (tacit knowledge)?
- How to facilitate flow?
- How to avoid that the fear of disappointing others kills the pure joy of creating?

Mats Granfors is a songwriter and producer, working in a wide variety of genres, ranging all the way from folk music to electronic music. He is a talented pianist and violinist, as well as a great arranger.

As a songwriter Mats has gained success in Asia with the well-known boy band Arashi. Mats, together with Sugar House Publishing's Janne Hyöty, hit the number one spot on the Japanese charts with the song "Your Eyes" in 2012. The album "POPCORN", on which the song was included, also managed to reach the number one spot on the World Top 40 Chart. In 2019 the song was included on ARASHI's 5 X 20 All the BEST !! 1999 – 2019, which reached No 1 spot on GLOBAL ALBUM CHART 2019 with sales of 3,3 M units.

As a musician Mats has participated in many recordings and has also played in live shows, as well as on tv shows. Mats is also working as a music teacher and has himself studied music in both Finland and Sweden, as well as in Denmark. Mats is one of the co-owners of Sugar House Publishing. Mats is also an entrepreneur in other branches.

Note:

The project Stimulating innovative and entrepreneurial attitudes for performing arts in higher education TM 2023 1st edition benefits from a 75.400€ grant from Iceland, Liechtenstein and Norway through the EEA and Norway Grants.

The EEA and Norway Grants represent the contribution of Iceland, Liechtenstein and Norway towards a green, competitive and inclusive Europe. There are two overall objectives: reduction of economic and social disparities in Europe, and to strengthen bilateral relations between the donor countries and 15 EU countries in Central and Southern Europe and the Baltics. The three donor countries cooperate closely with the EU through the Agreement on the European Economic Area (EEA). The donors have provided €3.3 billion through consecutive grant schemes between 1994 and 2014. For the period 2014-2021, the EEA and Norway Grants amount to €2.8 billion. More details are available on: www.eeagrants.org și www.eeagrants.ro.
