

Promotion & Publicity in the Creative Industries Sector

Emmett Coffey, Media Communications Dept, MTU, IRELAND

I am not an artist (but I wish I was)

The Challenge for all publicists...

“The neuroscience of attention, despite having greatly advanced over the last few decades remains too primitive to explain the large-scale harvesting of attention. But there is one thing scientists have grasped that is absolutely essential to understand about the human brain before we go any further: our incredible, magnificent power to ignore.”

our incredible magnificent power to ignore.

The PESO Model

An integrated approach to communications that blends paid, earned, shared, and owned media to establish thought leadership, credibility, trust, and authority that fuel a brand reputation.

The PESO Matrix

MA in Public Relations with New Media at MTU

a comprehensive understanding of public relations as a form of organisational communication and pays particular attention to the growing importance of digital and interactive media in strategic communication

MA in Public Relations with New Media at MTU

- Publicity/promotion.

- Strategic communications planning in organisations
- Media relations
- Online and social media management
- Event management
- Media writing and related skills
- Web design, video production, photography
- Digital marketing

Graduate Careers & Sectors

- Communications consultancy
- Media/Press Officer – in house
- Content Creation
- Social Media Management
- Government Relations/Public Affairs
- Digital Marketing roles
- Internal Communications

Entrepreneurship in Media Comms

- Creative Digital Media
- Visual Communications
- Photography & New Media
- European Creative Futures
- MTU entrepreneurship teaching delegations – Vietnam and South Africa

Publicity and promotion is really, really really important!

and ...

Publicity really, really really matters

Not new - Acta Diurna Populi Romani – 60BC

Graffiti - Pompeii Style...79AD

Not new

Bernays's 'Torches of Freedom' Campaign for Lucky Strike

And taking new forms all of the time

eg Instagram and holocaust awareness

Instagram Holocaust diary Eva.Stories sparks debate in Israel

Jewish girl's life is documented on social media to teach young people about WWII genocide

All you need is love ... but you can't get by without a little help from publicity

My Communications Work – Part 1

European Parliament

Christian Brothers

My Communications Work – Part 2

Promotion/Publicity within the Creative Industries

- A distinctive nature and character to cultural production and consumption.
- Difference between consumer/commercial products
- A job within a job –within a very particular sector

What's the difference..?

between

What's the difference..?

between

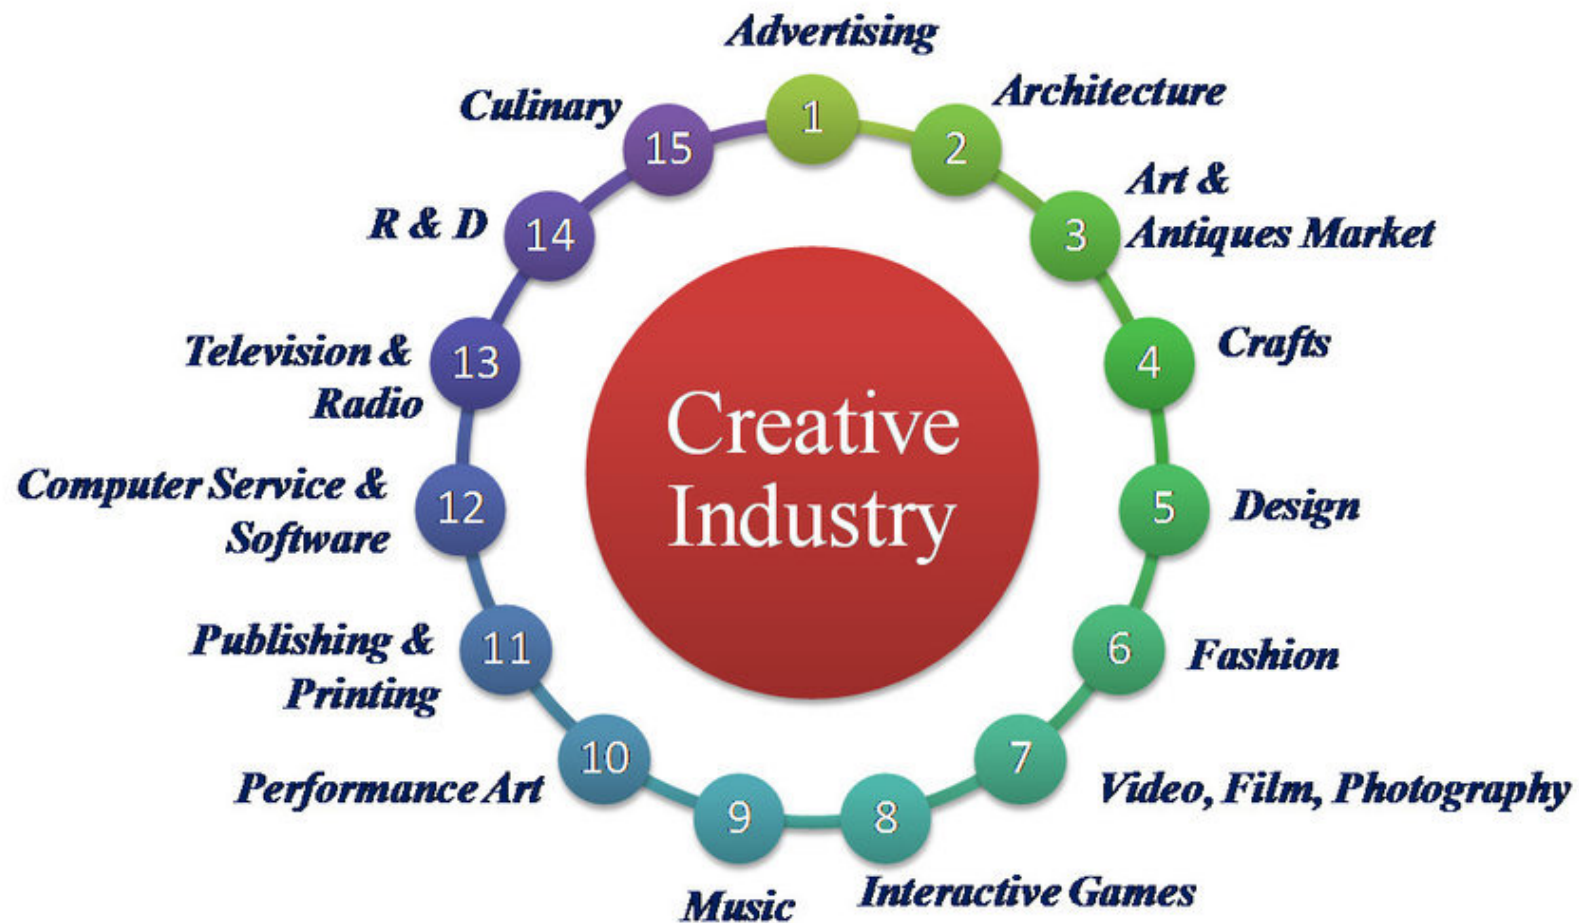

Creative Economy - and the concept of value

Enterprises and people involved in the production and distribution of goods and services in which the aesthetic, intellectual, and emotional engagement of the consumer gives the product value in the marketplace.

Source: Davies & Sigthorsson 2013

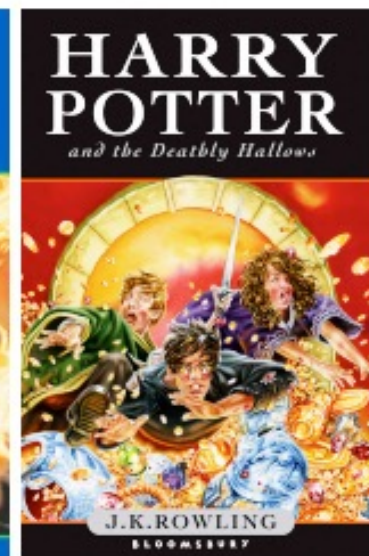

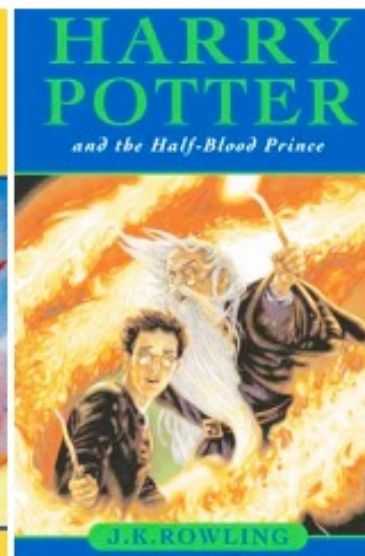

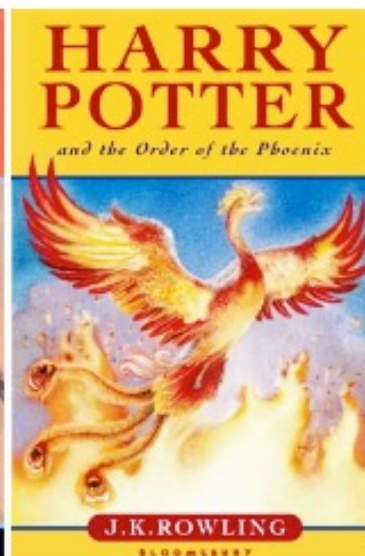

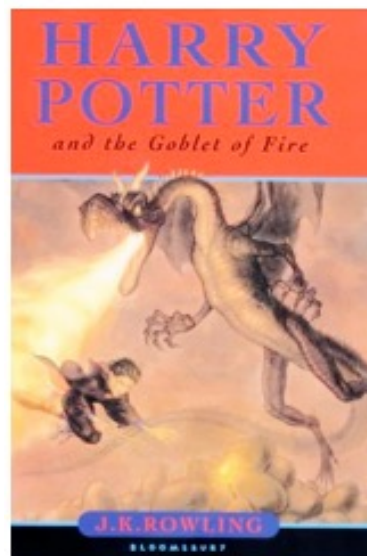

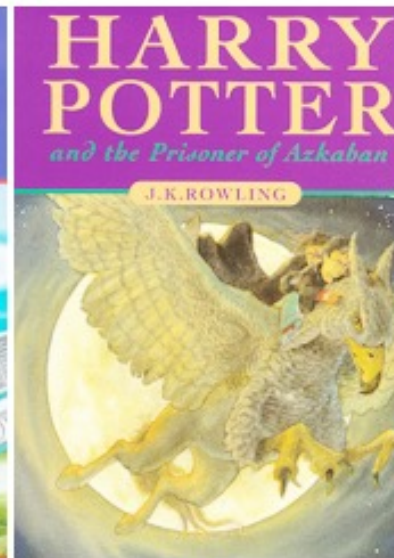

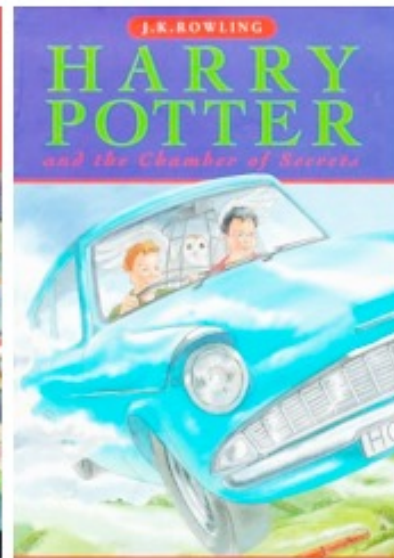

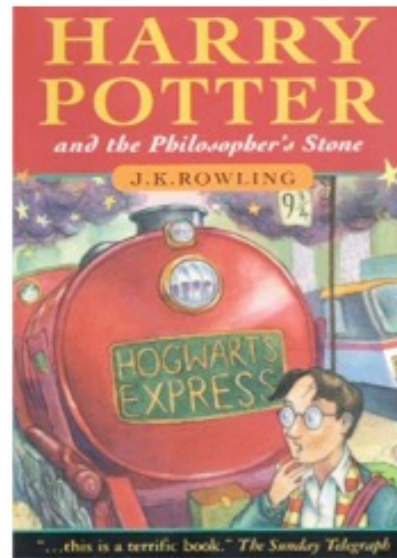

Creative Product

- An economic good/service that results from creativity and has economic value
- A creative product may be tangible (eg - a book) or intangible (eg - a podcast or a live musical performance).
- A creative product normally has some form of intellectual property attached to it.

“our incredible, magnificent power to ignore.”

Artist as Cultural Entrepreneur

- Core product: core benefit
- Whole product: includes logistics, packaging, extraneous factors needed to deliver product
- Extended product: encompasses all the meanings which could accrue to the product in the mind's eye of the consumer Source: Adapted from Kotler's 'Five Levels of the Product'.

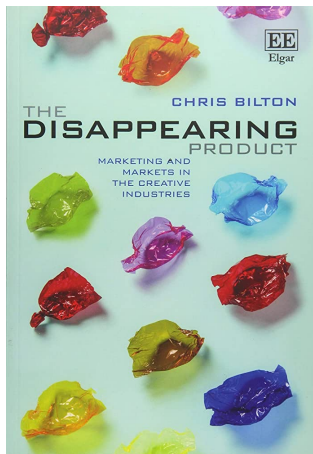

Figure 4.1 The extended product

Source Bilton: 2017

“In the creative industries, many content creators have opted out of the marketing process, focusing on products rather than audiences. A long-standing tension between art and commerce, rooted in 19th century Romantic concepts of art and value, is reinforced through educational traditions and a justifiable suspicion that ‘monetizing’ artistic work has tended to favour intermediaries rather than artists themselves”

Source Bilton: 2017

The challenge for Cultural Entrepreneurs

“There is also the practical challenge of managing two separate processes, the artistic process of creating content and managerial process of marketing and distribution”

Source Bilton: 2017

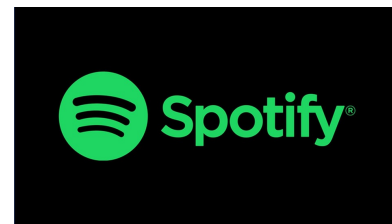

New Media as Creative Industry Disruptor

New media technologies have upended notion of traditional market structure and traditional means of marketing and promotion

New intermediaries

Social Product

Creative experiences

From Creative Product to Social Product

- The 'shareability' of cultural products through social media, even traditional media
- 'Clickbait' to maintain and increase customer attention
- The importance of online fanbases or 'communities'
- 'Bonding' with the like-minded
- Greater weight given to the 'experience' of culture

From Creative Product to Creative Consumption

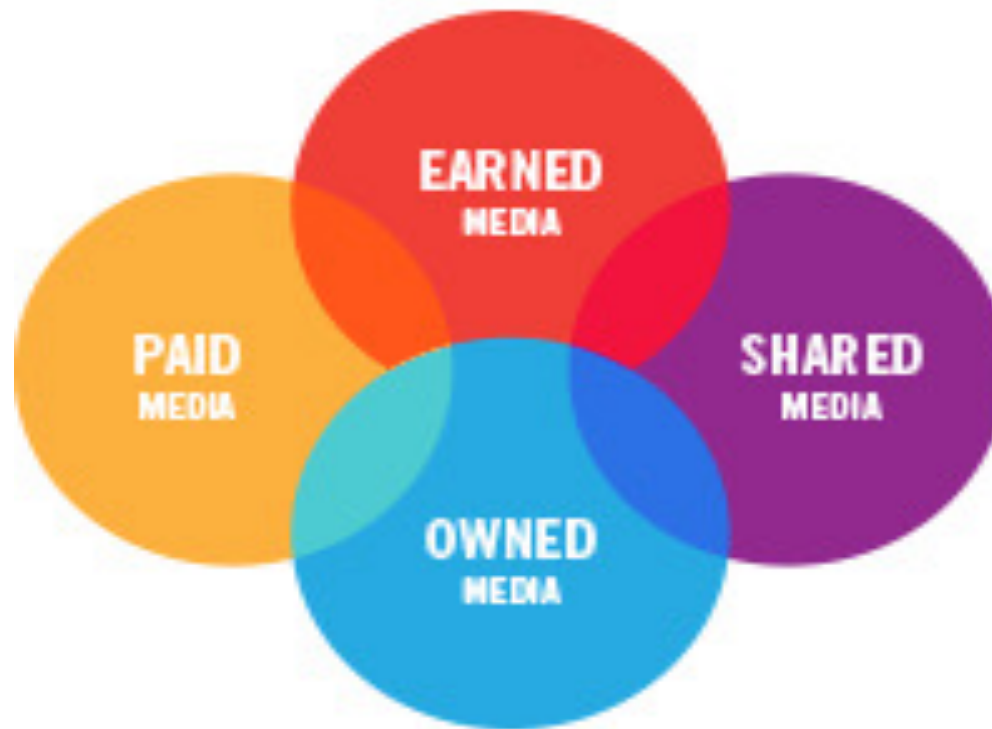

“When we like something, we are also inviting others ‘like’ us.

The merging of consumption and self-expression.

Social media allows us to display our ‘best selves’ and this is often achieved by announcing our cultural preferences

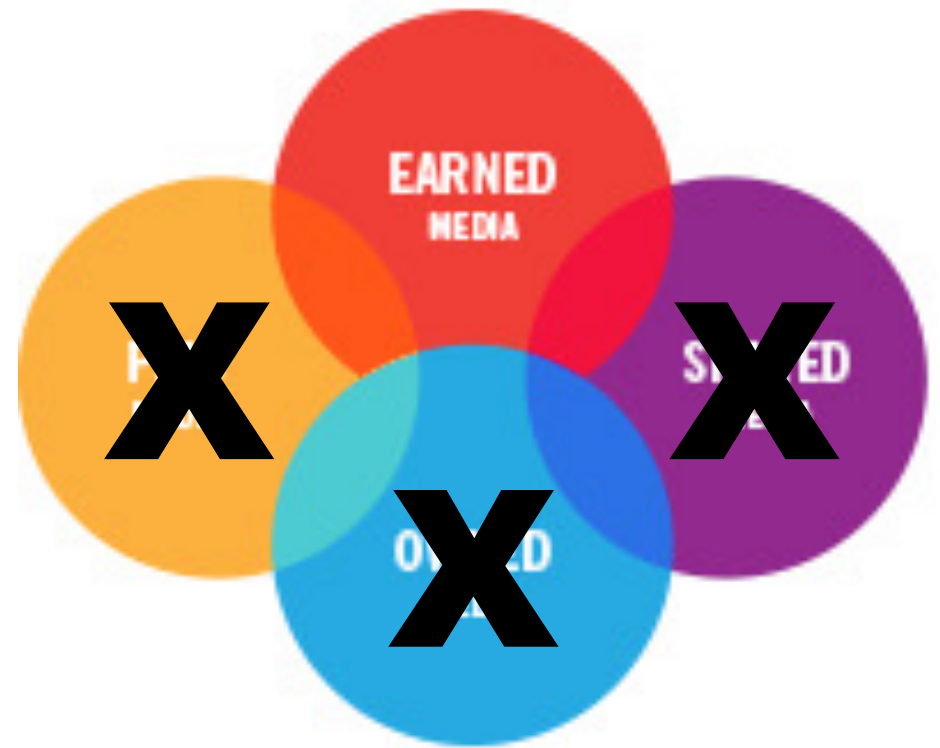

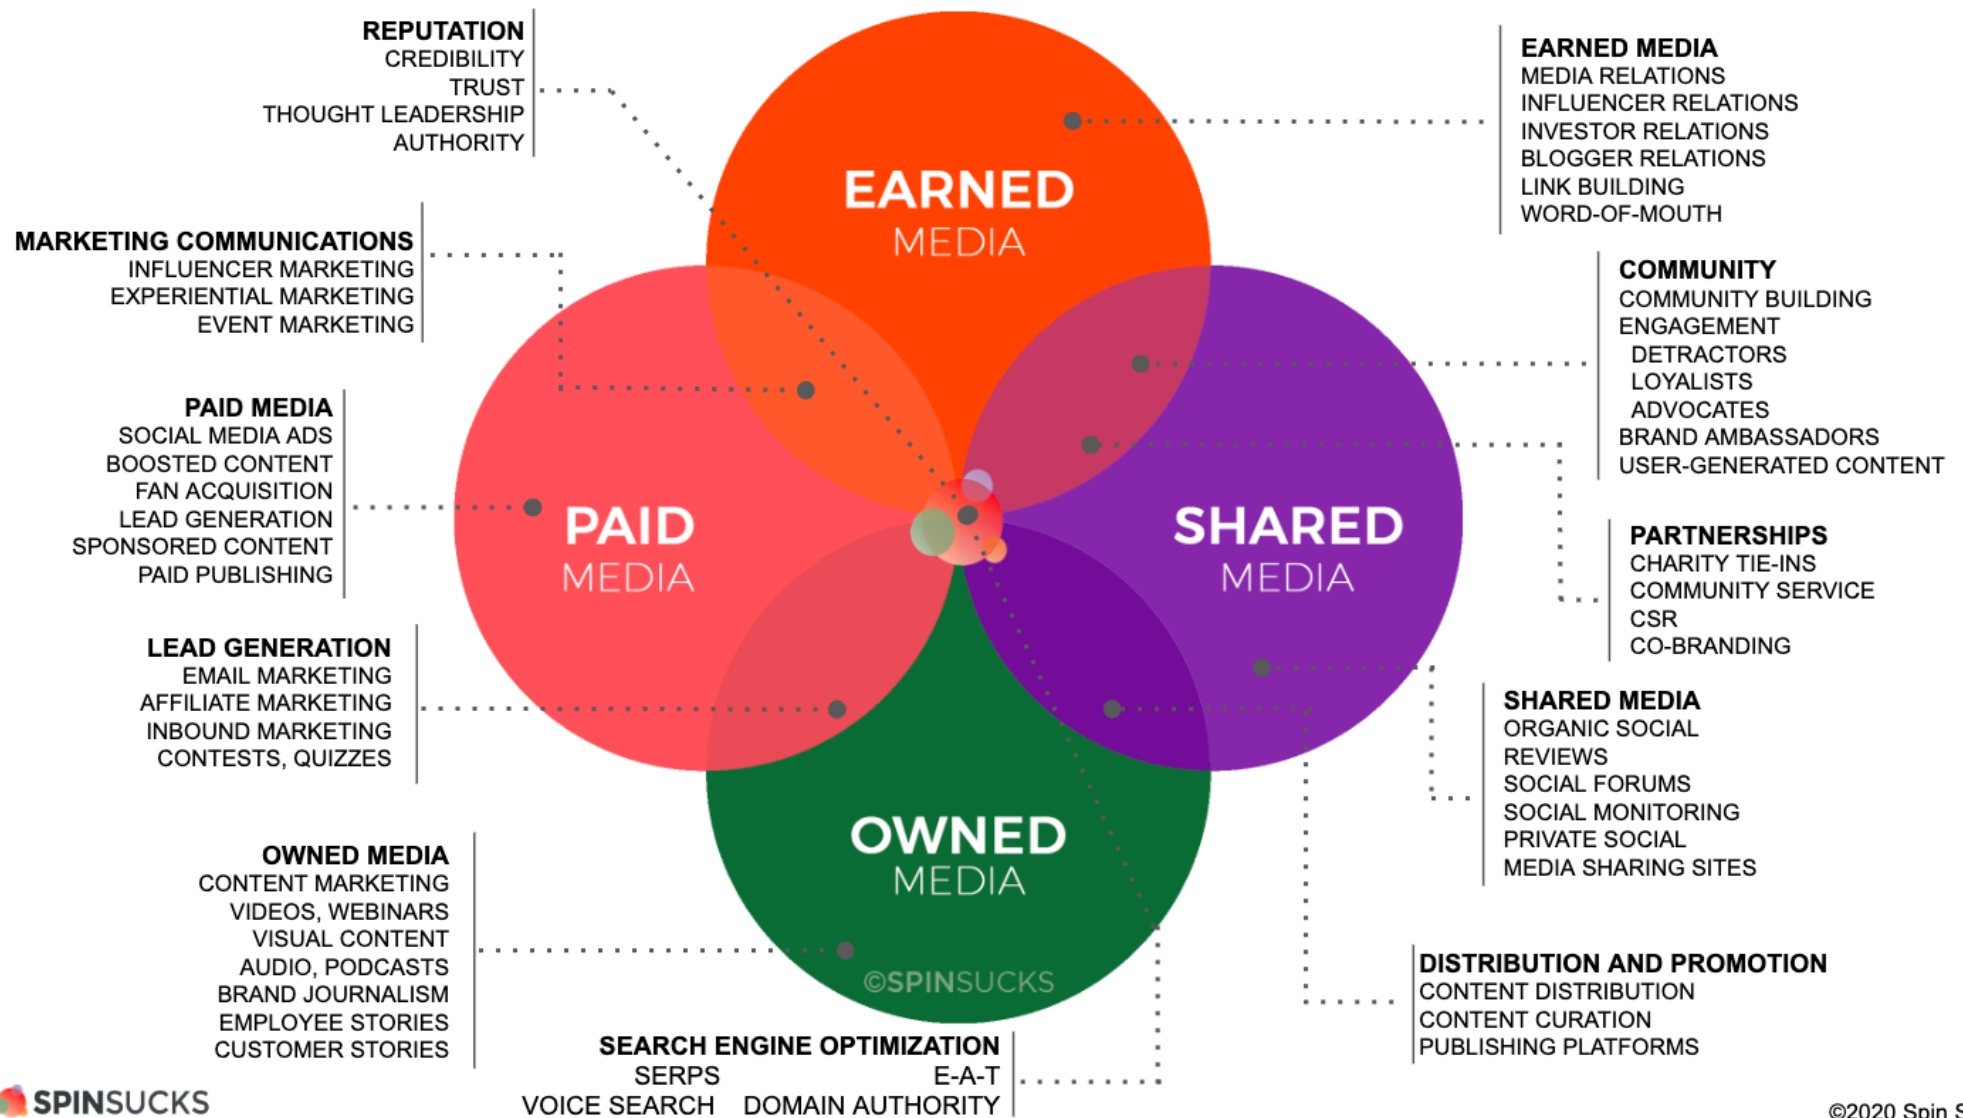

The PESO Model

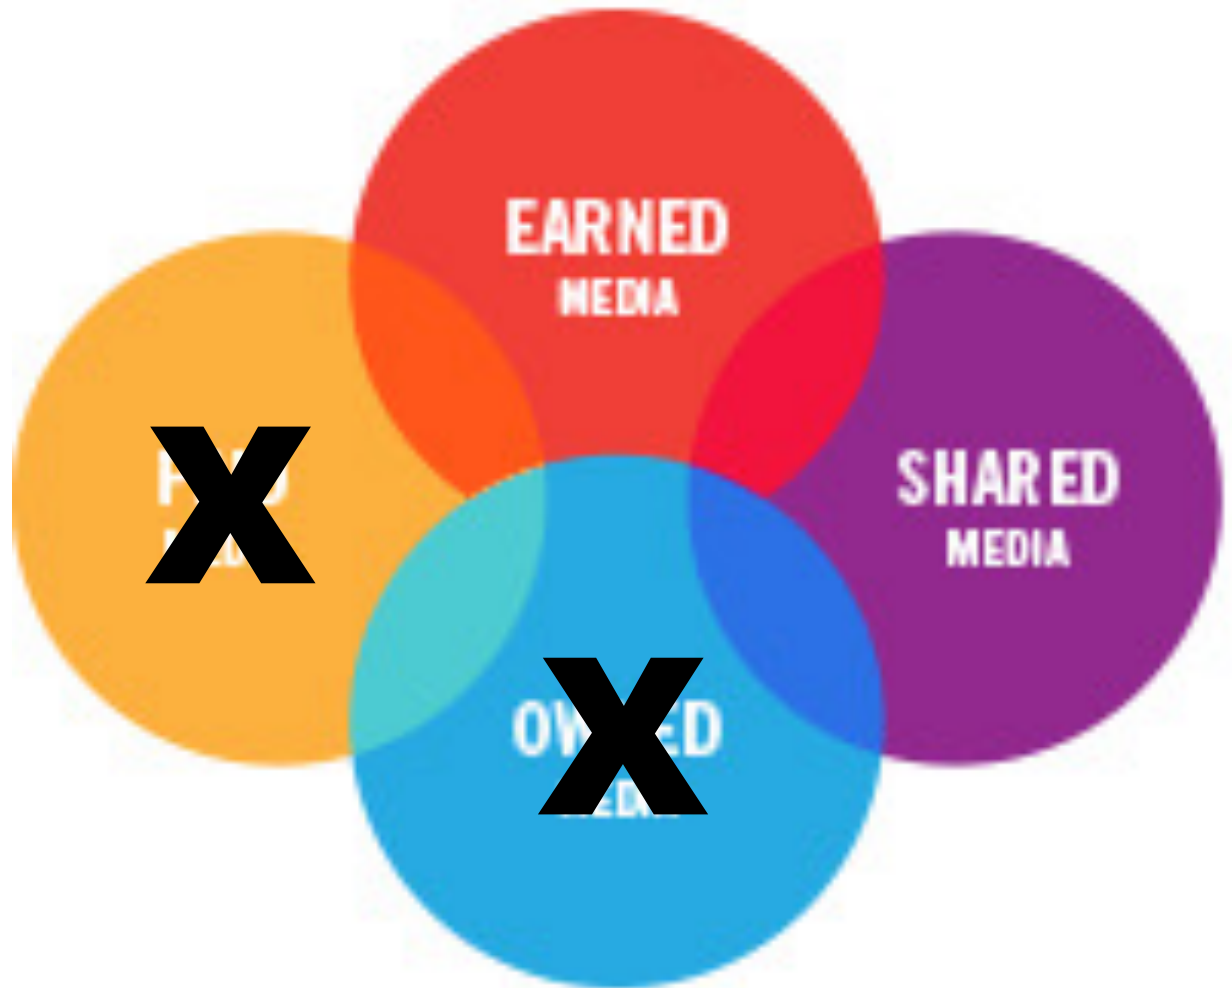

Source: Gini Dietrich

In a cluttered media landscape Earned Media is now more important than ever

But Paid and Owned are often very expensive

Earned Media - What is it?

“...any piece of unpaid publicity about your business”

“ ...produced and published externally but benefits your brand, your products/services”

“no direct cost to earned media – but can take time and effort”

		Pros	Cons
	Paid	• Scalable: more money equals more distribution • Reliable: guaranteed exposure for your message • Fast: media can be placed in front of your audience today	• Low Trust: everyone is a bit skeptical of a paid placement or ad • Expensive: as reach or frequency increases, so does cost • Ephemeral: once you stop investment, returns will drop off quickly
	Earned	• Authoritative: you are vouched for by a third-party authority • Cost-Effective Reach: leverage the size and trust of an established audience • Long-Term Benefit: past press mentions or placements can be referenced to create long-term SEO benefits	• Unreliable: you can never guarantee a press mention or placement • Hard to Scale: does not scale well to global efforts or high volumes of messages • Expensive: an effective PR program takes time and/or money to build
	Shared	• High Trust: people trust their peers more than the media or an ad • Low Cost: the amplification of your content is tied to its quality, not the dollars behind it	• Unreliable: it is hard to predict what will be shared in advance • Unscalable: simply producing more content doesn't always mean more shares
	Owned	• Low Risk: you can't be shut down when policies change or the platform dies • Long-Term Asset: evergreen content will draw audiences as long as it's relevant, your audience will serve you as long as you nurture it	• Slow: it takes time to build an audience • Not Independent: requires combination with paid, earned, or shared to build an audience

"Earned Media..."

- Cannot be bought or owned; so it is not TV/Press/Social Media advertising
- It can only be gained organically, when content receives recognition and a following through communication channels such as news or social media and word of mouth."

How do you 'make' news?

- Timeliness
- Prominence
- Proximity
- Significance
- Unusualness
- Human Interest
- Conflict
- Newness

Unusualness/ Human Interest

The NHS's Donation Stunt is Bloody Brilliant

Timeliness... & Amplification

Handmade Colossal Movie Posters for major movie launch

- The 2014 Paris Fashion Week Rick Owens Show Features Ordinary Women

Significance

Creating novelty through re-imagining and re-packaging

Conflict & Controversy

The power of the stunt

Greenpeace

the power of the stunt

Prominence

Significance

Conflict

Prominence

Significance

Conflict

alamy

Judge M. (K17482)
www.alamy.com

“The media is not always successful at telling us what to think, but it’s often very successful at telling us what to think about”.

Giannini

Prominence

Significance

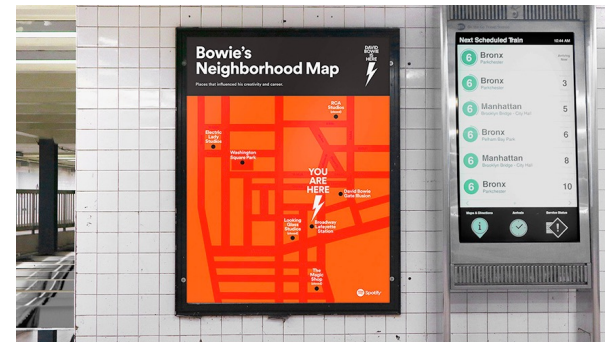

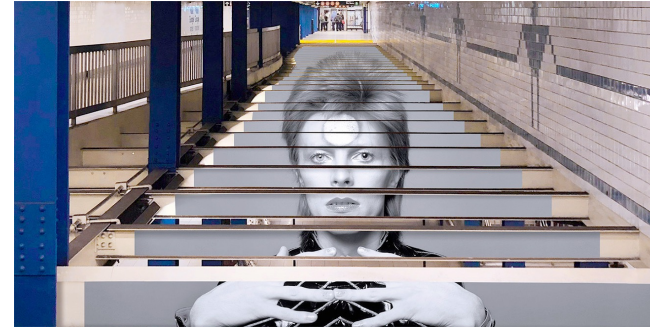

Unusualness Prominence

Music for free – killer publicity!

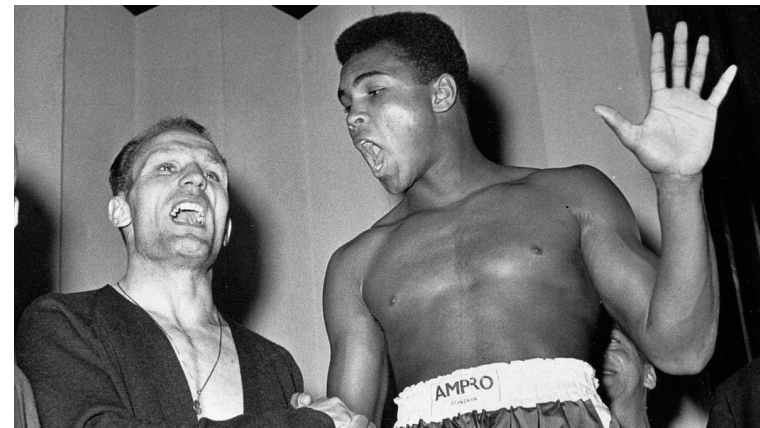

Unusallness /Prominence

David Bowie Subway Takeover at Broadway-Lafayette

Staged events

MLK's March on Washington

Conflict & Prominence

Prominence

Conflict

Timeliness

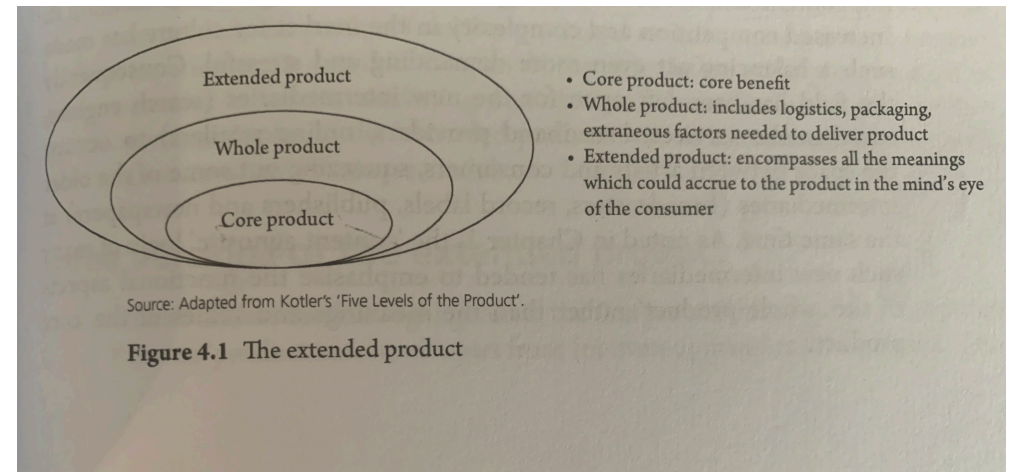

Bernays's 'Torches of Freedom' Campaign for Lucky Strike

Almost finished

“Cultural entrepreneurship involves managing publicity, taking charge of promotion.”

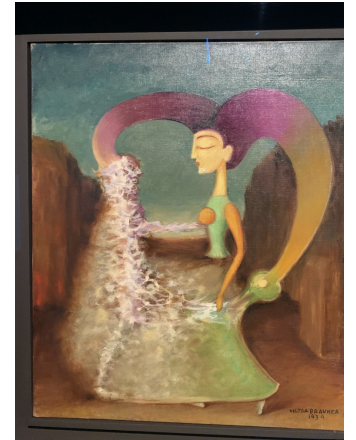

Bilton: 2017

Direct engagement with the audience, with the fanbase

The 'Curated' Event - and the creation of 'experience'

All-encompassing engagement...

- Direct social media engagement
- Merchandising
- Live performance
- Accessible to fanbase
- Enduring importance of radio/TV

Social Media - go to your audience, learn from your audience

- Dublin Rape Crisis Centre
- Discussing sexual violence among younger audience
- Particular focus on issue of sexual consent
- Use TikTok and social media

Campaign: #100Consent

The organisation wanted to engage with the 17-24 age group, encouraging a conversation around consent and how to communicate their feelings and preferences clearly. It equally wanted to find the best and most cost-effective way to reach a large audience that would also grab attention, pique interest, bring awareness and spark that consent conversation.

The organisation has limited funding & personnel...

One final thought....1,000 True Fans

“To be a successful creator you don’t need millions. You don’t need millions of dollars or millions of customers, millions of clients or millions of fans. To make a living as a craftsperson, photographer, musician, designer, author, animator, app maker, entrepreneur, or inventor you need only thousands of true fans.”

Kevin Kelly

One final thought....1,000 True Fans

“A true fan is defined as a fan that will buy anything you produce. These diehard fans will drive 200 miles to see you sing; they will buy the hardback and paperback and audible versions of your book; they will purchase your next figurine sight unseen; they will pay for the “best-of” DVD version of your free youtube channel; they will come to your chef’s table once a month. If you have roughly a thousand of true fans like this (also known as super fans), you can make a living — if you are content to make a living but not a fortune.”

Kevin Kelly

1,000 True Fans - The Criteria

1. Create enough content every year that you can earn €100 from each true fan.
2. Second, you must have a direct relationship with your fans. That is, they must pay you directly. You get to keep all of their support, unlike the small percent of their fees you might get from a music label, publisher, studio, retailer, or other intermediate.

Final Presentation Slide

Thank you for your attention!